

Conflict resolution skills training.

Helping clients to effectively resolve difficulty in personal and professional conflict.

Conflict with one self or others often leads our clients to seek out counselling. Having a sound understanding of Conflict Management Skills is essential when we try to empower our clients to find their way through a difficult time. This course will provide you with the basic Conflict Management Skills that you can put in your counselling tool kit. Inner conflicts, interpersonal and workplace conflicts will be discussed in the light of conflict management skills. Mediation and negotiation skills will be presented and techniques that can help your clients in their relationship conflicts. Experience De Bono's six thinking hats as a model that can break down mediation into stages and bring more clarity on an issue.

Skills and models of the Internationally renowned Conflict Resolution Network will be outlined with practical examples. Differences in personality and communication style can create misunderstandings and conflict. Experience self-awareness through the application of the Myers Briggs Type Indicator (MBTI) as a model in understanding ourselves better and our responses to conflict.

Discover why some people want to change the subject as soon as a conflict becomes apparent and why others want to pull an issue apart without any warning at all.

At the end of the seminar you will understand and respond to these situations more effectively and will be able to support your clients in their conflict better. Bring your stories with you and a willingness to explore some of these challenging encounters.

Learning objectives of this training:

1. Apply and learn how to impart basic conflict management principles.
2. Promote constructive conflict management principles to your clients.
3. Apply self-awareness models that lead to more constructive conflict management.
4. Map inner and interpersonal conflict to create clarity in conflict.
5. Identify their MBTI preference and understand specific needs in conflict more clearly.
6. Learn techniques to help you listen more constructively in conflicts.
7. Review assertiveness skills.
8. Use the complaints handling and mediation model more effectively.
9. Identify different mediation models.
10. Understand De Bono's six thinking hats.
11. Develop a toolkit for working with client's conflict.
12. Recognise the role of the Community Justice Centre.
